Office hours	Tuesday + Friday 15h30-16h30	Office number	G-L19

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course equips students to analyze (self-)critically problems and conceptions of justice across, between and beyond states. In order to develop a solid understanding of the concept of global justice, the course starts off by examining some of the core problems, historical origins and contemporary realities of global justice. Following that, the course explores three major sets of questions about global justice. First, how should we think of the distributive inequalities across and between countries? We will investigate the cosmopolitan or globalist, nationalist or statist as well as transnational or post-westphalian answers to this question. Second, what are the demands of global justice in concrete contexts such as foreign aid, climate change, migration, trade, education, colonialism and race? We will juxtapose and discuss opposing views regarding the demands of justice in these contexts. Third, is the theorizing of global justice on the basis of liberal ideas about freedom and equality parochial or Western-centric? We will engage with philosophers arguing that this is the case and study African theories regarding concerns of global justice.

This course pays special attention to close reading and discussion of seminal texts from, among others, Immanuel Kant, Charles Beitz, Nancy Fraser and Charles Mills. Readings will be philosophical and social-scientific. The course will include lectures, learning activities in small groups and seminar-style discussions concerning key figures and texts, as well as major philosophical conceptions, political contexts and practical problems of global justice.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- To read with care and understand philosophical and multi-disciplinary texts on moral and political problems of contemporary globalization;
- To analyze and evaluate moral- and political-philosophical arguments regarding their logical structure (or validity), adequacy (or soundness), and their effectiveness (or informativeness);
- To develop and articulate a compelling philosophical position on at least one issue of contemporary globalization;

- To effectively argue and communicate moral- and political-philosophical theories and arguments on contemporary globalization in both oral and written form.

CONTACT INFORMATION

For consultation and meetings, please contact the instructor before or after class, by e-mail via jculp@aup.edu or during office hours.

BLACKBOARD

Course-related material, such as readings, lecture slides, assignment tasks, etc., will be made available on the BLACKBOARD portal. Make sure that you have joined the course and that you adjust your settings to receive notifications and messages. Important up-dates will be posted on the BLACKBOARD course page.

READINGS

All required readings will be made available on BLACKBOARD. For the required readings assigned to each session, please consult the schedule below.

In case you are interested in studying a topic in further depth, please feel free to contact the instructor for information, or contact the AUP Library: <http://library.aup.edu/index.html> – email: library@aup.edu.

A fine online resource for philosophy in general is The Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy: <https://plato.stanford.edu>.

An accessibly written introduction to global justice is Chris Armstrong. 2019. Why Global Justice Matters. Cambridge: Polity.

A valuable anthology is Thomas Pogge and Darrel Moellendorf (eds.). 2008. Global Justice: Seminal Essays. St. Paul: Paragon House.

REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

Requirement	Relative Weight of Final Grade
Midterm Exam	30%
2 Short Essays	30%
Term Paper	25%
Presentation	5%
Participation	10%

It is the students' responsibility to meet the administrative and academic requirements of this course. Make sure that you familiarize yourself with these requirements and that you plan your time and your work reasonably.

Late submissions may be marked down up to 3.00 score points per day (24 hours) of lateness. For example, if you submit a 94.00/A/4.0 reading response 10 hours late, you may receive 91.00/A-/3.7. An extension can only be granted if you apply for it before the deadline expires.

Please remember that the readings and assignments are meant as springboards for your own independent and hopefully rewarding exploration of the topic.

Midterm Exam on March 20

After the first half of the course you will be expected to review the material and write an exam. The exam will consist of a set of questions on the materials covered in the course. These questions will contain knowledge questions regarding key terms and intellectual positions as well as short essay questions that ask you to reconstruct and discuss philosophical texts and arguments that this course addresses. More information will be provided along the semester.

Short Essays due February 14 and April 10

You will be expected to write 2 short essays to set questions that concern the readings. You can find these set questions on BLACKBOARD. These short essays will guide your reading, foster your understanding and assessment of the texts, and prepare you for classroom discussions.

The short essays should be about 1000 words each. They should be submitted via BLACKBOARD as PDF file or Word document (.doc or .docx) or PDF file by 23h59 on the day on which day are due. The font should be Times New Roman, the font size should be 12 pt., the spacing should be 1.5, and the name of the file should be YourLastName_Essay_1/2.doc(x). More information will be provided along the semester.

Term Paper due May 8

At the end of the course, you will be expected to write a term paper of about 3,000 words in which you answer a question from a list of set questions. The paper should be uploaded on BLACKBOARD (Times New Roman, 12 pt., 1.5 spaced, file name: YourLastName_TermPaper.doc(x)).

The aim of the term paper is to discuss a philosophical question based on the texts and theories you have encountered in the course. Your discussion should include (1) an analysis of key conceptions and arguments regarding content and structure, and (2) a critical assesment of the logical validity, soundness and effectiveness of the arguments and the position under consideration, and (3) the defense of a thesis you choose to adopt for the purpose of this assignment by producing effective arguments for this thesis and rebut relevant arguments against it.

Help the reader to follow your line of reasoning by making it explicit: An introduction should outline what you will present and why it is interesting. The main body should develop your argument(s) step by step, and a conclusion should sum them up, with a final evaluation of your findings.

Grading Criteria for the Short Essays and the Term Paper:

Coherence and strength of the argumentation	30%
Clarity and elegance of structure and writing	30%
Adequate use of relevant primary texts (and secondary literature)	15%
Correctness of form	15%
Originality of the thesis	10%

Presentation on May 8

We will have a presentation session during the final exam period on May 8, from 12h00 to 14h30. This will give you the opportunity to present in a highly condensed manner the central thesis of your term paper within no more than 5 minutes.

Grading Criteria for the Presentation:

Coherence and strength of the argumentation	30%
Clarity and elegance of the presentation	30%
Convincing examples	20%
Engagement with the audience	20%

Participation

Students are expected to come to every class meeting on time and be prepared to participate actively. The student's preparation includes, in particular, the careful reading of the assigned texts in advance of the planned session. When reading you should take notes and excerpt the core ideas of the texts – that is, you should engage in active reading.

Your participation grade will be assigned based on your participation in class throughout the semester. Your class participation throughout the semester will be assessed based on the following rubric (adapted from Bean, John and Peterson, Dean. 1998. "Grading classroom participation." In: New Directions for Teaching and Learning 74, 33-40). Absences or tardiness will also result in a lower class participation grade. If you are more than 10 minutes late, you might be marked absent. Punctuality is essential for undisrupted and efficient coursework.

A	A student will receive an A if he/she: comes to class prepared; contributes readily to the conversation but doesn't dominate it; makes thoughtful contributions that advance the conversation; and shows interest in and respect for others' contributions and views.
B	A student will receive a B if he/she: comes to class prepared; makes thoughtful comments when called upon; contributes occasionally without prompting; and shows interest in and respect for others' contributions and views. This grade may also be appropriate for an active participant whose contributions are less developed or cogent than those of students who deserve an A .
C	A student will receive a C if he/she: comes to class prepared and listens attentively, but does not voluntarily contribute to discussions and gives only minimal answers when called upon. A student will also receive a C if he/she participates in discussion, but in a problematic way. Such students may talk too much, make rambling or tangential contributions, continually interrupt with digressive questions, bluff their way when unprepared, or otherwise dominate discussions, not acknowledging cues of annoyance from instructors or other students.
D or F	A student will receive a D or F if they often seem on the margins of the class and may have a negative effect on the participation of others. Such students often don't participate because they haven't come to class prepared. Students receiving an F may be actually disruptive, radiating negative energy via hostile or bored body language, or be overtly rude.

Attendance is required at all scheduled classes and will be taken every class. In case of absence, you should contact the instructor to explain the situation. You may miss up to 3 sessions without excuse – though each of these three unexcused absences will lower your participation grade. More than 3 unexcused absences will be reported to the Student Development Team and might result in a failing participation grade (0.00 score points). In the case of more than 7 absences, whether excused or unexcused, you might also be asked to withdraw from the course or receive a failing grade for the entire course. Absences may only be considered excused if they are officially excused, e.g. because of (medically documented) student illness, participation in course-related study trips, family emergency or an appointment with the immigration office.

It is the student's responsibility to make up work for the missed class and to communicate with the professor for that purpose. Attendance at all exams is mandatory. Students must be mindful of this policy when making their travel arrangements, and especially during the Drop/Add and Exam Periods.

Grading Scheme for All Requirements and for the Entire Course:

Letter Grade	4.0 Scale	Score	Meaning
A	4.0	94.00-100.00	Excellent
A-	3.7	90.00-93.99	Excellent
B+	3.3	87.00-89.99	Good
B	3.0	84.00-86.99	Good
B-	2.7	80.00-83.99	Good
C+	2.3	77.00-79.99	Satisfactory
C	2.0	74.00-76.99	Satisfactory
C-	1.7	70.00-73.99	Satisfactory
D+	1.3	67.00-69.99	Unsatisfactory

D	1.0	64.00-66.99	Unsatisfactory
D-	0.7	60.00-63.99	Unsatisfactory
F	0	0.00-59.00	Failure

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

As an Anglophone university, AUP is strongly committed to effective English language mastery at the undergraduate level. Most courses require scholarly research and formal written and oral presentations in English, and AUP students are expected to strive to achieve excellence in these domains as part of their course work. To that end, the evaluation includes English proficiency. Students can obtain help on specific academic assignments in the university Writing Lab. For more information, please visit <https://www.aup.edu/academics/academic-and-career-resources/academic-resource-center/writing-lab> – email: writinglab@aup.edu.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

All work that you submit must be your own. Your sources must be properly cited. Direct quotations from others must be in quotation marks. If you have questions about how to attribute your sources, talk to the professor or to the staff of AUP's Writing Lab within the Academic Resource Center: <https://www.aup.edu/academics/academic-and-career-resources/academic-resource-center/writing-lab> – email: writinglab@aup.edu.

Plagiarism is a serious academic misconduct and will be dealt with accordingly. You should familiarize yourself with the university's policy on plagiarism at <http://www.aup.edu/academics/offices-resources/academic-resource-center/writing-lab/plagiarism>. For the sake of fairness and academic integrity, there will be no tolerance with plagiarism and other such forms of academic misconduct. Any conduct, whether intentional or unintentional, which creates the impression that some of the coursework you submit for grading is your own achievement when it is not will be reported to the Academic Integrity Office and may result in an "F" grade for the whole course.

Sometimes students present alien work as their own not because they want to earn an unfair advantage over their peers but rather because they feel unable to cope with the workload for some academic or personal reason. If this is the case, please do not hesitate to contact the professor or AUP's student guidance counselors Pamela Montfort via pmontfort@aup.edu or Yann Louis via ylouis@aup.edu. There is a lot that can be done to help you!
